Is Block Scheduling for You?

Paula Roth Downie

EDTL 611
Everywhere teachers are looking for more teaching time. With curriculum standards, routines, and classroom management, a valuable amount of engaged teaching time is lost every period. Researching ways to increase teaching time led to the investigation of block scheduling. Block scheduling has been spreading through secondary schools since the mid 1990s.