APA Format: Corporate Authorship

When a work is published by a corporation or institution, a typical reference entry should appear as follows:

Begin with the full name of the corporation or institution. Date of publication follows, in parentheses. The title should be italicized, but only the first word should be capitalized. Place of publication comes next, then the publisher. Use a colon after the place of publication. Each portion of the entry should be separated by a period and two spaces.
