

In Print Online!

Since 2005, In Print! has been published in magazine format as a service of the Martha Gesling Weber Reading Center at Bowling Green State University. In Print! celebrates K-12 student writing and illustrating. Now, to better serve our readers and contributors, In Print! has become In Print Online! Articles chosen for the online magazine will be posted much sooner, will be available free to anyone with an internet connection, can be in full color, and will be displayed in a larger format. If you would like your child's work to also be in the very first edition of In Print Online!, fill out the enclosed permission form and send to the address provided. In addition, we encourage you to send future writings and illustrations as well, following the guidelines below.

Student Guidelines

- All genres are acceptable. Content must be school appropriate.
- Submit as often and as many works as you like.
- Entries will be reproduced as sent. Editing is the responsibility of the student. Entries will not be returned.
- Illustrations are not required, but are encouraged.
- Illustrations should be sent as a jpeg attachment to our email address. If that is not possible, send a good quality photocopy by regular mail.
- Entries will be judged by overall quality. The intention of In Print Online! is to publish the best work submitted at various grade levels.
- Entries must be submitted as a Microsoft Word document or may be handwritten.
- Submit work by sending as an attachment to our email address, inprint@bgsu.edu
- For more information see our website at <http://edhd.bgsu.edu/inprint/>
- Entries can also be mailed. Submit to:
