

The Hive

A balloon floated through the trees of Hones woods. A young bear cried, "I want another balloon Mom, I lost mine!!"
She replied, "You only only once." You know you can have the little bear whined, "But Mom!"
She gave him a look and he stopped.

Zachary Peek
Kenwood Elementary
4th Grade

Normally there would be more balloons but this year there wasnt enough money to pay. The bees hadnt made enough honey. They are bear Sulked off into the woods. He sat down on a tree stump and cried. Suddenly a bee landed on his nose. He angrily brushed it away. Suddenly he noticed a phenomenal thing. A huge stream of bees were flying along.

Zachary Peek
Kenwood Elementary
4th Grade

He followed the stream of bees and found an enormous hive.
Suddenly he understood, it wasn't that the bees weren't making enough honey, they were moving.
He ran back to his mom selling
I found it, found it.
"Found what?" she said.
"The bees!" He replied as he pulled her along to the hive.
"Oh my goodness" she said and sat down with him.
"We're saved!" he yelled.
And from them on there were no more shortages on balloons.

Zachary Peek
Kenwood Elementary
4th Grade